TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

We have worked with John Sims of Global Expositions for the past 15 years and are quite impressed with his ability to lead an exhibit team for onsite operations, including rigging and labor supervision.

He has also travelled all over the country and is quite familiar with the different install and dismantle Union groups and their work process.

John is a dependable professional and thoroughly executes duties assigned to him. He is also innovative in coming up with solutions to problems that suddenly occur during the exhibit. He has shown good rapport with our clients and is quite adept with coordination between the workers and exhibitors.

We highly recommend and support him with his ability to provide service to any exhibit team or organization that is considering attending trade shows in the country.

Sincerely,

Dedicated resource
ready to scale

A collection of colorful 3D blocks (yellow, blue, and pink) arranged in a cluster, representing a dedicated resource ready to scale. The blocks are of various sizes and are scattered across the lower half of the slide, with some standing upright and others lying flat. The background is a solid light blue.

Cortek Life Science Co., Ltd. is founded in 2005 and has specialized in the development and marketing of nattiase since then. We start the first generation of nattiase with 5,000 Filtronic unit (Fulgram), after years of research and quality improvements, we dominated the market and satisfied our clients with 60,000 Filtronic specification by 2015. Since then, the nattiase from Cortek has been traded as nattiase in global market, and successfully reached to more than 25 regions and cities.
